

Rebel Leaders Moved to Sol System

Paris, October 4 2313

The leaders of the failed uprisings on the French outposts Nyotekundu, Auguerau, Bessieres and the colony Kimanjano have been moved from the orbital high security prison in the Nyotekundu system to the naval base on Amalthea, one of Jupiter's moons. This is likely a step towards a formal trial for treason on Earth later this year.

The move was done in outmost secrecy to avoid liberation attempts. The Foreign Legion military police have reported several such attempts previously at Nyotekundu. The naval base of Amalthea is used as a fighter training ground and system defence post, but the Lyctos Facula Foreign Legion base also houses a military prison Mount Aigaion, colloquially known as "Goat Mountain". Surrounded by vacuum, jovian radiation belts and a major naval base it is regarded as the most escape-proof prison of human space.
